Workers Over 75 May Have More Benefits

Increases in old-age social security benefits are still waiting to be claimed by a few residents of Bethel and vicinity, the Lewiston Social Security Office notified the CITIZEN today. John M. Beale, manager of the office, said the type of increase referred to is available to persons 75 years old and past who have been working since the start of 1951, provided their earnings in that time support a higher benefit.

Although 1950 changes in the Social Security Act provided that workers who had reached age 75 could draw benefits while still working, regardless of earnings, they did not permit a beneficiary in this group to have his benefit rate reduced. Further amendments made this past summer remove that bar. The individual of that age can now have a recomputation of the benefit.

Recomputation is then under the "new start" formula, based on average earnings only from the first of 1951. Increases are not available to all workers of the three-quarter-century group; the result depends on the earnings figures. However, the Lewiston office has found raises of three to five dollars a month not unusual. For any such refiguring, a written application must be filed. This can be done either by writing to the Social Security Administration Field Office at 125 Main Street in Lewiston or calling at the Rumford Post Office on the representative of the Social Security Administration, who will be there on each Monday of the month from 1:00 to 3:30 in the Civil Service Room.

Any increase established takes effect within the month in which it is claimed, and not before. Beale said that not knowing who the individuals are doesn't make him any less confident that there are some who can gain the increase by asking for it. While age 75 suggests pursuits such as checkers and knitting, many of the workers of that age have turned up in the thick of things in business and industry, in some cases doing exacting manual work.

PUPPET SHOW AT GOULD GYM FRIDAY AFTERNOON

While teachers and parents are busily engaged in getting the rooms at Crescent Park School ready for the Library Bazaar, all pupils of the town schools will be excused at 2:20 p. m. to attend a puppet show in the Gould Gym. Hans and Yore Waeccker are returning to present another of their unusual shows, "The King's Treasure Chest."

Many of the youngsters will remember the program presented by these same puppeteers at the Bazaar last summer and will welcome their return. Not only will the children have an opportunity to enjoy the show but indirectly will be contributing to a very worthwhile project—building a school library at the Crescent Park School. Parents are invited and it is believed that there will also be many youngsters of pre-school age in the audience. The Chamber of Commerce will handle ticket sales as well as other arrangements. According to present plans the first buses will leave from the gym directly at the conclusion of the program.

A small admission will be charged for the performance.

America Moves Toward Center

The record-breaking turn-out of voters on November 4 and the decision they rendered gives proof of a number of important facts. Many interpretations will be placed on the Eisenhower landslide, as it reflects the thinking and attitude of the people. But from an educator's viewpoint the most important fact is that the vast majority of the American people can be reached and influenced by educational facts.

Since the election is over, non-partisan observers now are agreeing that a great underlying issue in the election was the Welfare State philosophy. By their votes, 55 per cent of the American electorate apparently have rejected it. There were other issues, some of more immediate concern perhaps, but the difference in the basic political theories of the two parties is considered by most non-partisan observers to have been one of the major fundamental issues upon which the voters expressed their choice.

"Rightly Left"

President Truman and President Eisenhower have been frequently classified themselves and their administrations as having left of center. The question which has been asked but never quite put thus far is: Was the election a referendum on the Welfare State? If so, the answer is: Yes. It was. The voters have said that they do not want the Welfare State. They have said that they do not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual. They have said that they do not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual.

The first definite signs of a trend toward big paternalistic government were becoming evident a year ago. It was then that the voters said that they did not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual. They have said that they do not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual.

Broadcasting the Facts

As a result of an enlightening and more informed public opinion, the voters have said that they do not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual. They have said that they do not want the government to be responsible for the economic well-being of the individual.

If the federal trend to be along down it is because the people want the facts at hand. They want the facts at hand. They want the facts at hand.

In the darkness days of the 1930s the responsibility with the people of the United States was to get the nation's economy back on its feet. But when such was done as the NRA and the National Labor Relations Act were passed, the people felt they were being asked to go toward government control of economic life, and they said: No. They said: No. They said: No.

AUTHOR OF HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING

Accept the Inevitable

MRS. PEGGY STIRLING, Montreal, tells of being placed in the hospital for a serious gallie operation just one month before her 16th birthday. Her parents had been told that her gallie condition had been the cause of her protruding eyes.

She was happy about the operation for although it was to be very difficult, and the convalescence long, after it was over she would have normal eyes again.

Often her high school classmates, especially the boys, passed horrible remarks about her eyes, calling her names such as "fish eyes". Growups took time out to stare at her. She had never told her family about those remarks because, knowing they loved her, they would have been as much hurt as she was.

All during the operation she looked forward eagerly to having normal eyes again. The operation required a local anesthetic and she perhaps had more pain than ordinarily would have been the case.

Two days later her kindly old doctor sat by her bed, took her hand and said quietly, "Peggy, you will never have normal eyes again."

How cruel this would be! At first she wanted to die, and for a whole week she fumed and stormed about the injustice.

Then one day her doctor again sat by her bed and his first words were, "Peggy I'm ashamed of you!" She began to cry, telling him she would never be pretty, that she would never have dates—and why did this have to happen to her! She says she can hear his reply now as if it were yesterday: "How would you like to have two very pretty eyes and never be able to see out of them? You don't know how lucky you are to have your sight, which is more important than pretty eyes."

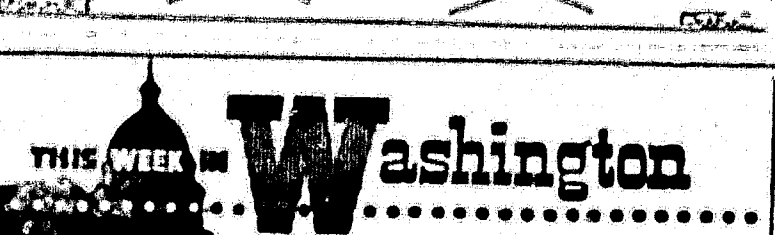

After the doctor left, she remembered his words and decided to accept the inevitable, and more than that, to do something about it. From then on, she read newspapers, and good books, and started going to church and joining organizations. She knew she would need other things that a pretty girl did not require.

It took about five years to realize what she had achieved: that her male friends were as handsome as those of her girl friends. But more than that, they were more intelligent and could talk better. Her eyes never again caused her distress.

THANKSGIVING, 1621-1952

THIS WEEK IN Washington

FINANCING and keeping a job in the manufacturing industries is relatively easy according to some figures issued recently by the Labor Department.

The department said that only seven out of every 1,000 factory workers lost their jobs in September. The lay-off rate was as low as at any time since World War II. A year ago, 14 workers per 1,000 were losing their jobs.

On the hiring side, manufacturers were taking on 37 employees for every 1,000 employed at the time they were releasing the seven.

Defense officials have looked favorably upon a military budget for next year five billion dollars below that of this year and 10 million dollars below the armed forces' request a year ago.

Top level policy makers of the nation have moved the military budget point, from when war was breaking out further into the future. They predicted two years ago that 1952 would be the peak point. Then came 1951 and they moved it into 1952. If so, the latest is that 1952 is the peak point.

But they want you to keep this reservation in mind: It could happen today or 25 years from now. It is not as certain.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff want our allies to be ready to raise the paid peacetime army, and they want allied forces to be trained on all the latest methods in warfare.

That's why the Chiefs are getting ready to ask Congress for authority to move allied military commanders in Europe all the up-to-date data on atomic weapons and their use.

Dollars budgeted for groceries may go a little further soon, despite continued jumps in the price of eating. This year the farms are reaping an abundance.

There will be more beef than any other meat for the first time. It will be more plentiful than pork, poultry, vegetables, fruits and dairy products are already meeting buyer resistance.

The increase in beef is caused by cattlemen's increase in their herds in January, 1952. The U.S. cow herd added up to 86 million head by the end of the year. It is estimated the nation's herd will be somewhere close to 93 million head.

However, this need not mean a large increase in the amount of steaks or hamburger at the meat counters in 1952, although we predict that the amount will be larger.

Beef growers may only be increasing their plant, preparing for more business in the future. If this business comes and the prices hold good, they'll be ready. If good business and prices don't hold, the cattlemen will unload their herds, and resume business as in the few years previous.

By the way, if you saw it in the CITIZEN, say you saw it in the CITIZEN.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

The embittered, high-powered campaigning that marked the closing weeks of the Presidential race largely drove from the headlines many a news story of long-pull significance—even as it diverted public attention from developments of top importance to the entire world. High on this list have been the course of the cold war and the status of the hot war in Korea.

Certain facts seem to be self-evident. First, the idea, which was hopefully held some time ago in various quarters, that the Soviet Union wished to come to some sort of reasonable terms with the United States, no longer has credence. It is clear that the only terms in which the Politburo is interested are those which would work 100 per cent to Russia's advantage. In his last major speech, before the U N General Assembly, Vyshinsky followed the standard Soviet line for well over an hour, accusing this country of practically every crime in the calendar, including the germ warfare charge, and the assertion that the Korean war was being deliberately prolonged so as to profit American billionaires who lust for blood money.

Second, current Soviet strategy has as its basic aim the splitting of the Western powers, to be followed ultimately by the isolation of the U.S. This certainly isn't a new technique, but the work is being intensified. Soviet officials are being very polite these days to certain of the Western nations—particularly those in which there are substantial anti-American blocs, and in which the governments are something less than stalwart in their allegiance. The officials are trying hard to sell the idea that Russia has no designs on these nations, and wants to be friends.

Third, Russia is going all out to strengthen and harden her agents and sympathizers in the Western countries, with special emphasis on the U.S. The American Communist party has in large part gone underground. It is reported that membership requirements have been greatly stiffened—no weak sisters are wanted. It is also reported that Russia's system of schooling her foreign agents is really in high gear. The curricula is an extensive one, including everything from propaganda techniques to how to sabotage industrial plants, power and rail systems, and other key installations.

Fourth, the problem of what to do about Communists in our government is more crucial than ever. The testimony of General Walter Bedell Smith, head of our top intelligence agency, in this regard was most revealing. General Smith, an extremely able officer who was Eisenhower's Chief of Staff during World War II and afterwards Ambassador to Russia, said that Communists had wormed their way into important places in his agency and elsewhere. Also revealing is the charge of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that American Communists have gained key positions in the United Nations Secretariat.

Last, but certainly not least, it is clear that we are as far from a Korean truce as ever, that no one in a responsible position has any definite plan for ending the bloody struggle, and that the Kremlin will do everything possible to keep it going and to force us to spend material and manpower there in an endless stream.

The campaign is over, the candidates have said their say, and the people have supplied the decision. But the great problems confronting the American government and the chosen representatives of the American people, remain.

GETTING BACK THE CRUMBS

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Well folks, folks of all stripes, types and colors—folks of America—now that the shouting dies down and we have a different crew on board ship there at the dock on that rilly, oily, swagging Potomac, we can dust off our vest and buckle down to saving our Republic and our fireside. We been wandering—we been duck soup for the checkered vest boys—we been pickin' for the intellectuals, the deep thinkers with the grand thoughts but who, I say, just think they think. All us suckers of every hue and degree, we can now join hands—otherwise there will be mere holes bored in the old boat. She leaks plenty and too much already.

Where to start first is like when you begin packing the household goods getting ready to move. The attic and the basement overflow with space eating, useless gadgets and junk. It goes overboard.

Now, we can give a squirt at Wash., D. C. It has been going round and round and if you are dizzy, you have oceans of company. But it has not been like the horse on the merry-go-round that didn't eat oats and didn't eat hay—our Washington crew ate it by the bale. It's your hay, folks—what you going to do about it. We been doin' a sucker for short—too long. It is time to raise a ruckus. If the new crew don't eat the mustard, eat pronto. Here it said it would.

Yours with the low down,
JO BEURA

By LITTLE HULL

WILL RUSSIA start war—and when?—is a constant, gnawing question. The Kremlin killers have two alternatives: One, the quickest—is to take Spain, which our administration has so cleverly left unprotected, by dropping 50,000 paratroopers, in one flight, and following these with as many more troops as are necessary to defend the Pyrenean barrier and the air fields, and to quell any bare-handed Spanish resistance. Then all they have to do is tell the governments of the United States and Britain to withdraw their troops from western Europe or have them slaughtered on the shores of the English Channel.

What could we do? We couldn't stop the Soviet march across Europe and we couldn't retreat beyond the Pyrenees and reorganize our armies on Spanish soil as we should be able to do. If we bomb the Russian cities, they would bomb ours. Maybe they would do this anyhow simultaneously with the taking of Spain. Who is responsible for leaving Spain undefended?

The second alternative is to carry-on as at present, slowly pushing the Democracies toward the edge of the precipice. It wouldn't take many Alger Hisses to do that to this country. And if we collapse, the rest of the free world sinks with us. It seems a miracle that when we have survived even this long when one considers the unbelievable shenanigans which lost China to the free world, the "red-berring" attitude of the Chief Executive.

When one reasons the significance of the administration's attitude towards the defense of Spain, our only possible foothold and rallying point in Europe in the event of war with Russia; and when one reads that the secretariat of the United Nations is infected with American Communism.

Why doesn't the state department order the F.B.I. to investigate every American who joins that more and more mysterious body, the United Nations? We don't know! We are asking you! And maybe you had better ask your congressmen if you are at all interested in the immediate and distant future of your country.

Aztec, N. M., Independent-Review: "From June last year to June this year the Executive Branch of the Federal Government spent $3,541,000,000 to pay the people on the Executive payroll. These are, undoubtedly, the people who were never so well off in their lives. The boys haven't added up the payroll of the people drawing checks from the other departments of government."

King Ferry, N. Y., Southern Cayuga Tribune: "Why should a union man be given a pension of a hundred dollars per month or so, in addition to his social security, and the non-union given nothing? Is this America? Is this carrying out the spirit of the Constitution which says we shall all have equality? No indeed. . . . It can only breed class segments in our economy and give to the few privileges that are denied to the many."

DEVELOPS VERTICAL POTATO ELEVATOR
Now comes the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station with a new machine that potato men have long desired. This new machine is a vertical potato elevator. Its purpose is to lift potatoes from the basement to the ground floor of potato houses. It can also carry them to upper bins. Belt conveyors bring the potatoes from the bins to the elevator. Buckets take them to their destination. The new elevator handles potatoes rapidly and with the smallest amount of bruising. The inventor is Howard D. Bartlett of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

IS YOUR CAR READY FOR WINTER?
Motorists are advised to get their cars ready for colder weather. The Automobile Legal Association advised:

1. Be sure to have your battery fully charged. If it is worn out, it is cheaper in the long run to get a new one.

2. Check distributor points. New points are inexpensive, so get new ones if necessary.

3. Check the spark plugs. If badly worn, they should be replaced. In any event they should be cleaned and gaps checked and adjusted.

4. Be sure the coil is good. The coil is the heart of the ignition system. It converts the low battery voltage to high voltage to operate your car. You may need a new coil if the spark delivered to the spark plugs is weak, even if the plugs are good.

5. Be sure the condenser is in good shape. That is part of the distributor that prevents electric arcs from jumping between distributor points.

6. You should have a set of chains available in your car. You may not like them, but they may be a life saver.

7. Put some sand in the luggage compartment, preferably in a small pail. Sometimes a little sand is all that's needed when you are stuck in snow or ice.

8. Watch out for frozen gas lines. In warm weather air-carried moisture condenses inside the gas tank, is carried through the gas lines and quite often freezes. The best guard is a full gas tank.

9. Have your radiator flushed, made sure there are no leaks, and add some sort of anti-freeze. Make sure the anti-freeze contains no salts.

Thursday, November 20

The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. (John 10:10) Read John 10:17-18.

ONCE when on a bus we passengers found ourselves looking upon a lovely hand in a river flowing between two high banks. The last rays of the setting sun were reflected in the quietly flowing river. One lady remarked, "The loveliness of that scene somehow seems to represent the beauty and goodness of life: It makes me feel glad I'm alive." The lady with whom she was sitting said, "That winding river has always made me think of a huge snake; I don't see anything pretty about it."

How characteristic are these two views of life! We got out of this what we put into it. We see beauty in living only as we contribute beauty and goodness to the on-going stream of life. Are we reflecting the joy of obedience to Christ as we go about our daily tasks? Are our moral and religious principles so clear-cut and positive that God uses us to guide and direct our neighbors into a radiant and active faith?

Prayer

O Lord of life, grant that we as Christians may so reflect in our daily living the light of Thy Son Jesus that others will believe and want to join in fellowship with Thee. May our lives be built upon the teachings and spirit of Jesus—truth and righteousness which never can be destroyed. In His name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Today I will try to reflect to others the light I have found in Christ. —Vera Largen (Tennessee)

New honors have come to Winthrop C. Libby, associate Dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Maine. He has just been chosen secretary of the Northeastern States Division of the National Land-Grant College Association. The University of Maine is a land-grant college. The name comes from the fact that the Federal government assisted in the establishment of colleges of agriculture through giving them grants of land.

The Compassion of Jesus
Lesson Matthew 9:13-35
Golden Text Matthew 9:35

THE COMPASSION OF Jesus is a well set forth in this lesson. We find Jesus, as he returned from across the Sea of Galilee to Nazareth, healing a man suffering from palsy. The man may have been a great sinner, for Jesus said to him: "Thy sins are forgiven." Dismissal may have brought the man to palsy.

When Jesus spoke to the afflicted man, certain scribes present accused the Master of blasphemy; rather they said in their hearts that Jesus blasphemed. He, reading their thoughts, declared that both forgiving sins and healing of body were at his command. And he said to the paled man: "Arise and walk." And the man arose and departed to his home.

After this, Jesus made a tour through Galilee, finding many cases of need. He taught in the synagogues, preached the gospel of the kingdom, and healed men who were afflicted with divers diseases.

Evidently multitudes attended upon his ministry, for it is recorded that when Jesus saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on the people. And he said that the harvest truly was plentiful but the laborers were few. This is true today. Let us pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers for those who are in need.

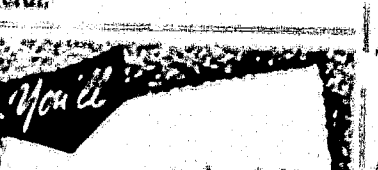

Thy hands have made me and fashioned me; give me understanding that I may learn Thy commandments. —(Psalm 119:73)

As children stand in need of the love and guidance of their parents, so do we all ever stand in need of the love and guidance of our Heavenly Father. In the hurry and distractions of the business day, let us set aside a time of quiet communion with God, that we may know His will, and obey it.

A truth that disheartens because it is true is of far more value than the most stimulating of falsehoods. —Masterfish

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Maine veterans who served in the armed forces on and after June 27, 1950, and who are entitled to VA compensation for any of three specific types of disabilities, may be eligible for an automobile or other conveyance at VA expense. Manager M. L. Stoddard of the VA Center at Togus, revealed today.

Stoddard listed the qualifying disabilities as: loss or permanent loss of use of one or both feet; loss or permanent loss of one or both hands; or complete loss of sight in both eyes or permanent impairment to vision in both eyes to a point of virtual blindness.

For these veterans, Stoddard said, VA can pay up to $1,600 toward the purchase of an automobile or other conveyance, including such equipment with special attachments and devices as VA may deem necessary for each veteran.

Maine veterans may apply at any VA office for this benefit within three years from October 20, 1951, the date the law was enacted, or three years from the date of their discharge or release from active service when the discharge or release occurs after October 20, 1951.

—Question and Answer—
Q—I lost one of my legs in the service during World War II and the VA paid $1,600 toward the car I bought when I got out. I'd like to trade my car now for a new one. Am I entitled to another $1,600?

A—No. The law provides but one grant for each eligible veteran.

A birthday dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Davis on Sunday, Nov. 16th, in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter, Geraldine. This also included the birthdays of Stevie Hill and Ann Hilton, who make their home with the Davis family. At the close of the dinner two beautiful birthday cakes were served. Those present were: Esther Davis, Patsy and Lorraine, Bernice Davis and Thomas, Joan, Beverly, and Mary Russell, and the host and hostess.

Mrs. Jessie Andrews is making a good recovery at her home.

Mrs. Helen Poland escaped serious injury Sunday night when the lights suddenly went out on her car. Several cars went past all right, but one car reported coming from Berlin refused to obey her signal and plowed into the rear of her car leaving it a complete wreck, causing serious damage to the other car, and three passengers were taken to the CMG Hospital, one in serious condition. The accident occurred near the "Devil's Kitchen" between Andrews Corner and Trap-Corner.

More hours of dusk and darkness, with greater visibility hazards, demand extra caution on the road. The Maine State Police tell us that we shall be wise to lower our speed and lift our attention, when we drive after daylight begins to fade.

Beginning next Sunday, Nov. 23, and until further notice Church services will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The speaker for the coming Sunday is Rev David Hickland.

MAGALLOWAY

Mrs. Besse Harvey, Corrae. - Mrs. Roland Ripley fractured one of her arms while visiting Mrs. Clifton Littlehale at Upper Dan last week and returned to Portland, N. H., for a while.

Owing to Mrs. Ripley's accident there will be no Farm Bureau meeting held here this month as the meeting was to be at her summer home here.

Corporal Wendell Turner, son of Odian Turner, was married last Friday morning to Miss Violet Williams at the Congregational parsonage in Colebrook by the Rev George Duke. The bride is a British girl who has just arrived in the U. S. A.

Mrs. Joseph Mooney returned to her home here last Saturday from the Stewartstown Hospital, where she had been a patient for a few days.

Church services were held in Wilson's Mills Sunday, Nov. 16. Mr. Duke preached on "Faith and Prayer." Mrs. Duke played the organ.

All the sporting camps are full of hunters and a lot of deer have been killed, also quite a few bears. A large bear's tracks have been reported at Abbott Brook. The tracks are as large as a large dinner plate.

Mrs. Fred Bennett is not as well as she was when she returned from the hospital at Stewartstown. Her daughter, Mrs. Alton Fogg, and granddaughter, Miss Rachel Turner, visited her over the week end.

The "Hunters' Ball" was held at the Magalloway Town Hall Friday, Nov. 14. It was sponsored by the Pythian Sisters. There was a large crowd and a large amount of money was taken in for the supper and dancing.

Archie Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferris went to Colebrook Monday, Nov. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewen Cameron and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Harvey and daughters, Kathy and Mae, got were all Sunday guests of Mrs. Mabel Cameron.

Foley, Ala. Onlooker: "What's the use of worrying about those saucer people after they get on down here. They'll get back in their flying bowl and go back into space where they came from in a hurry."

From The Hancock County Herald, McComb, Ohio: In every community, large or small, if it amounts to anything, there must be a group of people who have organized themselves to work for the good of the community.

However, just the mere existence of such a group is no guarantee of its success. To be successful the group must be representative of the town. People of the town from all walks of life must be represented and participate. They must participate with wholeheartedness and be willing to bow to the edicts of the majority. Each cannot go his separate way. If such is the case the group will amount to nothing, to the detriment of the community.

It has been said that nothing in the world can stand still. Everything must move forward. If it does not move forward it will go backward. This applies to communities and their activities as well as to individuals and business.

In a large percentage of cases the worth of the community, its progressiveness, its type, can be measured by the activity, the enthusiasm, and the cooperativeness of the group.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Helen Longstreet Miller, Beaufort, S.C.: I can remember "before telephones" when grocers and butchers sent an errand boy to back doors to take the day's orders for the delivery wagon to bring in afternoon deliveries.

From Mrs. H. E. Anderson, Mission, Texas: I remember when rounding a curve in the road seeing a sign posted on a tree which read: "Sound Klaxon."

From Mrs. Bertha Williams, Ft. Recovery, Ohio: I remember toting water to the leach barrel, gathering walnut hulls for dye; gathering in the nice, dry beachwood with which to bake the pie.

From Belle Smith, Grace, Idaho: I remember the old horse-powered threshing machine when the threshers all came to the farm. We borrowed dishes, chairs, tables, pans to feed the men, and even the ladies went from house to house to help their neighbors out.

From Verna Moore, Coleman, Mich.: I remember when we used to have an evening in October for making a large iron kettle of apple butter, a barrel of sour kraut. There was a midnight chicken supper for all who came to help.

From Mrs. Edward Koch, Ft. Recovery, Ohio: I remember when our 10, 25 and 50 cent pieces were in paper money, and we had copper pennies the size of a half dollar, and a penny of a mixture of metals that had a flying eagle on one side.

We had copper two cent pieces about the size of a quarter and three cent pieces the size of a dime. We also had very small silver three cent pieces and silver half dimes.

From Mrs. Harriet Jones, Twin Falls, Idaho: I remember when my mother wore wrappers. We called them housecoats now. And she made Battenberg lace to trim the parlor curtains. We went for Sunday afternoon drives in the surrey with the fringe around it.

From I. H. Riley, Waco, Texas: I remember when there were signs in the Sinton Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio, reading: "Do Not Blow Out The Lights." They were natural gas lights.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmount, W. Va.: I remember when the livery barn could be identified by lanterns tilted back in chairs before the entrance.

N. E. BUILDING DIPS 11% FOR 9 MONTHS THIS YEAR

Construction awards in New England during the first nine months of this year dipped 11 per cent from the corresponding period in 1951 according to Galney Construction News, daily New England building industry report.

September activity, however, showed a gain of 46 per cent over August and 219 per cent over the corresponding month of last year.

Two states placed ahead of the 1952 totals for the three quarters mark. They were Connecticut, up 4 per cent, and Rhode Island, 2 per cent. The four other states showed declines for the 9 month period; Maine dropped 39 per cent; Vermont fell off 15 per cent; Massachusetts slumped 14 per cent; and New Hampshire dipped less than 1 per cent.

Construction awards totaled $789,218,109.40, compared to $889,017,585.49 for the initial 9 months of 1951.

September awards amounted to $131,790,570.33. August construction was $90,267,028.05. All states except Rhode Island and Vermont showed gains during September over August. Rhode Island construction tumbled 25 per cent, and Vermont edged down less than 1 per cent. New Hampshire gain 218 per cent; Maine 222 per cent; Massachusetts 71 per cent; and Connecticut 13 per cent.

Galney's added that regardless of the outcome of the national election, the construction industry, barring an all-out war, will continue at its present high level till 1960.

The construction authority said that there is a tremendous need for continued road construction and other public works, in addition to the fact that this nation is enjoying its greatest era in history with its $275 billion economy. There will be no deflation during this period as we enter a decade of stabilized economy for the second time in this century.

HOW NOT TO HIRE AND FIRE The Washington News Letter of the National Retail Dry Goods Association recently observed that the hiring and firing procedures now in effect in the Federal government would make the blood of any store executive run cold. It cited a case where one agency incurred a $10,000 expense in laying off 22 employees which works out at $454 per employee, not including the salaries of those responsible for the hiring and retraining of employees reassigned, nor the vast amount of paper work involved. It cited another case where an agency deared to separate 164 persons from government service. In the end, four and a half months later, 25 were dismissed instead of the 164, and the direct cost of the operation was $33,500 and the indirect

WORTH REPEATING

"The government has $164,000,000,000 available for spending this fiscal year if federal agencies can find ways to do it, according to the magazine Mid-Western Banker," Marlboro, Mass., Enterprise.

"Definition of a taxpayer: A person who has the government on his payroll." - Newspaper Syndicate.

"A people who are spending more than they earn to live, are on the high road to insolvency." - Concord (N. H.) Monitor.

cost $125,000.

Such instances are typical, rather than unusual. And they help to indicate why there are now 2,500,000 people on the Federal payroll - and why, according to the Bureau of the Budget, another 1,500,000, for the amazing total of 4,000,000, will be added by next June.

Suppose manufacturers, retailers, or other businesses dealt with employee problems as does the government. The cost of carrying on business would zoom - and, of course, it would have to be paid for by the consumer who bought the goods and services they sold. And we're in exactly the same position when it comes to government. The consumer - that is, the taxpayer - must do the paying today!

Regardless of the party in power, it's time for a lot of changes in Washington.

The Citizen Office

A peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

BAN ON RADIO broadcasts of championship boxing bouts is bringing protests from many quarters. Some newspapers are taking up the cudgels against the ban.

The fight to place microphones on the floor of Congress is starting early this year, but industry circles expect the ban to remain in effect.

Tallulah Bankhead may return this winter with a radio show but it's expected to be for the standard half-hour instead of the 90-minute extravaganza produced in previous years. . . . By the way, line this columnist on the side of the critics who thought Tallulah was great on TV. . . . Of course, the writing was weak, but with the volatile star in charge even that seems incidental.

Radio City is carefully watching to see the results of a private memo sent by the big networks to sponsors. . . . The note points out that TV commercials are getting longer and longer and that the TV code promises "good taste" in commercials. . . . Milton Meale faces the battle of his television life this season.

PLATTER CHATTER
CAPITOL: Marilyn and Wesley Tuttle do a nice job with two unique numbers - "Don't Break the Sixth Commandment" and "Our Love Isn't Legal." . . . Bob Eberly comes up with a strange little number entitled "Back Street Affair" . . . Flip has "When I Dream" . . . And Nat Cole continues piling up successes with his latest, "The Ruby and the Pearl."

Continuing on Capitol, the Four Knights have a winner in "One Way Kisses" backed by another lament, "Lies." . . . Popular Jane Freeman, who always had a good voice but had to be in a near fatal airplane smashup to be re-discovered, does a magnificent job, as usual, with "Day Where You Are" . . . "Laughing" is on the flip side.

ACROSS the DESK

From The Osawa, Iowa, Southwell: It is our observation that it takes a much longer spell of clear weather than it used to be to put something away for a rainy day.

From The Highland, Wis., Press: With the talent displayed in the recent play it seems to me that an organization should be formed here to present plays and other home talent programs. Highland seems to be favored with more than its share of good musicians, singers, and other talented people. How about giving them a chance to present their talent to the public?

A step in the right direction has been made with the formation of a city band. The band made its first public appearance in the recent Fair parade, and made a big hit with the crowd. We wish the band the best of success and urge everyone able to play an instrument to join the band.

From The Britton, Wis., News: One of the fine public services a city can extend its citizens was demonstrated recently when our citizens received from their city a directory of public officials.

It is one of those intimate gestures that express a sincere desire on the part of the city's officials to serve the needs of Britton. It enables the many new folks in our community to get better acquainted with who makes the wheels go of this group.

From The Hancock County Herald, McComb, Ohio: In every community, large or small, if it amounts to anything, there must be a group of people who have organized themselves to work for the good of the community.

However, just the mere existence of such a group is no guarantee of its success. To be successful the group must be representative of the town. EASY DOES IT

MEK SOME SHARP. grated American cheese with canned baked beans and pork. Heat and serve over toast and you'll have a simply-prepared, hearty supper fast.

Put hard-cooked eggs through a sieve or chop with a pastry blender. Add these to mayonnaise with chopped chives and you'll have an elegant dressing for a green salad.

Tiny baking powder biscuits are good for a snack afternoon or evening if they're spread while still warm with cream cheese mixed with deviled ham.

Baked custard always makes a good dessert. Unmold and spoon over it butterscotch sauce and whole pecan halves.

Baked fish for dinner? Bake it on some strips of bacon over which you have placed a few crushed bay leaves. The flavor is wonderful.

Diced leftover ham can always be used to extend cold rabbit. Ham and cheese are flavor team-mates, so you'll have a good combination.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Sour Cream Waffles

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 cup sour milk
6 tablespoons butter, melted
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well-beaten egg yolks, sour milk and cream, add to flour mixture and beat until smooth. Stir in butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

Sponge cake gone a bit dry can be a most luscious dessert when topped with pineapple, cold custard sauce and a sprinkling of moist coconut.

This is the season for both cabbage and apples. Cured the cabbage fine, slice the apples with the red skin and melt in cherry flavored gelatin for a delicious salad.

In some egg plant slices in egg and coat with bread crumbs. Fry with a few butter slices and creamed mushrooms. It's a tasty looking dish.

Try garnishing your favorite bean or pea soup with a large fried onion garnish. It is a simple dish with crisp, scrambled bacon.

Arthritis?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular atrophy from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism hands deformed and my ankles were set. I started again prohibiting telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

"Cocktail?"

(He: "She'll think I'm a sad sack if I say no!")
(She: "I don't want it, but what will he think?")

Do you have to drink, when you're out on a date or a party?

You might think so, to read some advertisements or listen to some radio shows.

Millions of dollars in liquor propaganda are saturating the public with the idea that drinking is socially indispensable.

Smartly dressed men and women, in lavish surroundings, eagerly consume the advertiser's product. Handsome athletes, beautiful girls, even grandmothers try hard to push the public into believing that everyone drinks. Text and commercials imply that alcohol is safe as milk.

But what are the facts?

Actually, liquor is far from the beneficent product that its manufacturers would have you believe. Most people, including those who drink, know that alcohol often causes irreparable harm. It is a depressant, not a stimulant. One out of twenty drinkers becomes an alcoholic.

Why not determine your attitude toward drinking from your viewpoint—not from the viewpoint of those who profit by what you drink? It is a fact that alcohol cannot help you attain health, happiness, or financial security. It is a fact that alcohol can easily cause you to miss out on these. Why be misled by propaganda to the contrary?

For the fact is, again, that drinking is not essential socially, or otherwise. You can get along fine without it. And you need never hesitate to say, "No, thanks, I don't drink." You'll be thought the better of, and feel better, for saying so.

You can get along fine without it!

OUR DEMOCRACY

AMERICANS ALL

ELECTION DAY OVER, WE CAN, HAVING DISCHARGED A PRIMARY DUTY AS CITIZENS, SETTLE DOWN TO THE DAY-TO-DAY PRACTICE OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

ON THOSE CHARGED WITH CARRYING FORWARD OUR NATIONAL GOVERNMENT RESTS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SERVING THE INTERESTS OF ALL THE PEOPLE—AND A RESPONSIBLE OPPOSITION CAN HELP SHAPE THAT COURSE.

ON EACH OF US TOO—AS CITIZENS—RESTS AN EQUAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR TAKING AN ACTIVE, INFORMED INTEREST IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS. SO WE CAN BEST DEMONSTRATE BEFORE THE WORLD THE VITALITY, STRENGTH AND HIGH PURPOSE OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

Views and CounterViews

THE INFLUENCE of the U.S. in the U.N. is so crucial that without our support it would fail. The U.N. is disliked by powerful American organizations. Can the arguments of U.N. enemies stand against the arguments of U.N. friends?

ANTI-U.N.

The U.N. has followed the League of Nations in its failure to bring about disarmament and has failed in atomic control.

The ideal developed at San Francisco through which the five great nations would exert their strength to enforce peace has deteriorated into the "cold war." The Security Council has no troops to stop aggression, and anyway, the veto would keep it from using them.

The U.N. is being used by the new Arab and Asiatic nations to attack the colonial powers, embarrassing the U.S. in its attempts to build NATO and giving Russia a propaganda weapon when we fail to side with the freedom-seeking colonies.

Potential new U.N. members from non-Red areas are being denied membership because of the struggle between the U.S. and Russia-U.N. membership applications are subject to the veto.

Certainly it is a bad thing for such countries as Italy, Ireland and Finland to be denied admittance. Just because we won't admit a bunch of Communist nations. Other nations had their enthusiasm blunted by the League failure.

PRO-U.N.

The U.N. is a forum for 60 nations and the last point of contact between the west and the east, offering negotiation when either side considers it opportune.

Disputes between members of the non-Communist world have been settled successfully by the U.N.—Israel and the Arab states, Netherlands and Indonesia, India and Pakistan. Also, the U.N. has achieved success in cases where the Soviet was involved but not willing to risk war—removal of Soviet soldiers from Iran, the Greek civil war, and the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

When the U.S. is willing to lead the way, as in Korea, the U.N. can take very strong action against aggression. The Communist forces have not crossed a border since the U.N. forces drove them from South Korea.

The U.N. has improved social and economic conditions in the world. It has offered technical assistance to backward countries to the tune of $20-billion a year.

The U.N. has inspired the birth of two new states—Israel and Jordan—and increased the prestige of new states such as India.

Doctor Suggests Physical Exams For Middle Aged Hunters

This year there will be more men seriously injured or unnecessarily killed in the Maine woods, due to over exertions and physiological unfitness than are the victims of careless hunters, Dr. John O. Piper, President of the Maine Heart Association stated today.

An executive of any progressive industry insists that all of the key positions in his plant be filled by properly trained individuals. However, this same Executive does not hesitate to start a two or three weeks hunting trip with no more training than having walked from his house to his car and from his car to the elevator of his office—48 weeks yearly.

The average middle aged executive has sacrificed physical exercise for mental and social advancements. The older he gets the fewer are his golf games, swimming parties and other physical recreations of the summer months. Yet when fall comes, the leaves turn and there is a twang of frost in the air, the urge to revive the days of his youth and to roam the forests with a gun in his hand becomes an obsession.

Without a physical examination or any type of physical training he leaves the office on Friday night and starts a hunting trip that will night end a productive career.

Dr. Piper urged every would-be sportsman to have a comprehensive physical examination before his annual hunting trip. This examination should include, X-ray of chest, testing of blood and urine, and an electro-cardiogram, especially if a man is over forty years old.

One of the great dangers to men who annually embark upon this two or three weeks strenuous vacation is that great "evil" over weight. Any man whose weight is more than ten pounds above the table drawn up by life insurance companies is carrying too much surplus and is taxing the heart more than it should be.

A hypothetical but common case in this fall's invasion of the woods is a thirty pound overweight executive in his mid-forties, who changes into rough, heavy clothes and woodmen's boots and starts on a modern Daniel Boone invasion of the wilds of Maine. He travels as far as his automobile can carry him then lashes a forty pound pack on his back and carries a heavier gun than he should and starts for a hunting camp back in the woods away from civilization. The thirty pounds of overweight and forty pounds of pack make this man's untrained body carry a burden that is apt to injure either the heart or blood vessels. Upon arriving at camp if he does he then follows the urge of nature by over eating, over drinking, over exerting, usually using an anesthetic. "This is a vacation," he tells himself.

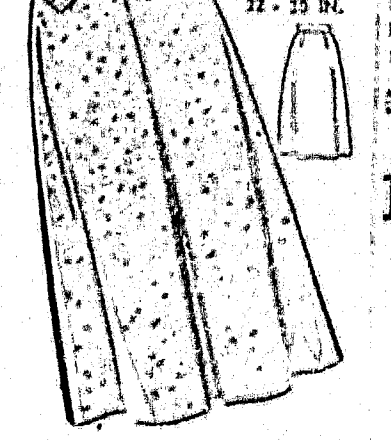

Dr. Piper stated that for the past three years, the obituary columns in Maine papers have shown many unexpected mortalities. At the time of the Maine Heart Association's annual report of such deaths has been partially listed. Every year for the past three years there have Here's a spicy dessert that tastes as good as it looks. This apple-gingerbread combination is a pretty way to end a Thanksgiving Day dinner.

One whiff of the spicy aroma from Gingerbread Ring With Apple Slices will convince you that this glamorous dessert offers extra-special goodness.

Your dinner guests will never guess how easily you made this attractive ginger ring. Make a gingerbread batter and pour it over sliced apples in a greased ring mold. Bake and serve with sweetened whipped cream. It's as simple as that.

The November food budget will easily cover Thanksgiving entertaining when desserts cost as little as this one—only 44 cents. Your baker can also supply you with inexpensive desserts to suit both plain and fancy menus.

This Ginger Ring With Apple Slices may not add much to your food bill but it adds a lot to good nutrition. Contains the proteins, B-vitamins and food iron of the enriched flour with the protein of the egg and iron of the molasses and you have a mighty nutritious dessert—with plenty of eye and taste appeal.

GINGER RING WITH APPLE SLICES

Sliced Apples 1 1/2 cups sliced peeled tart apples (such as McIntosh)
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup water

1 cup flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup cinnamon
1/2 cup nutmeg
1/2 cup cloves

Prepare ring mold greasing it generously and covering bottom with thinly sliced apples. Pour over apples the following batter: Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and ginger. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and molasses. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, alternating with butter and molasses. Mix to smooth batter. Pour on apples in greased ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 45 minutes. Unmold and serve hot or cold with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 1 1/2 inch ring.
